

Financial Health for the Future of Work

References: These are statistically significant results from a multivariate logistic regression analysis of survey data, based on a 90% confidence interval. The survey was commissioned by PayPal in 2018, and data was collected from surveying 8000 working age individuals in 8 markets - Brazil, Canada, China, France, Germany, India, the United Kingdom, and the United States. Please click here for the full report.